A QUAKER GARB.

THE most Quakerish garb was worn the other day by a hostess who was presenting to her friends a young musical celebrity at a morning musicale;
It was a gray silk combined with black.
The gray was that lovely Pennsylvania tint familiar to all who have journeyed to the Priends meeting houses, and the black was the lusteriess kind known to the old with puffed sleeves, skin tight below the elbow. Around the neck, enveloping it like a shawl, was a double ruffle of the gray silk. It was bound with black silk in a tiny blas fold and was crossed upon the breast and carried around the waist. At the back it tide in two long, narrow ends, edged with the black silk. Around the neck there was a ruching of gray chiffon, nicely matched to the silk. It, too, had a trace of black through it. To a woman of any figure, slim or stout, this fichu effect is very becoming, for it plumps out a slender figure and helps a poor one.

Miss Godfrey Brings Suit Against Stephen A. Dutton.

Claims He Secured Her Property Do In Agreeted in New York

Miss Lily Alys Godfrey of this city, yesterday sued Stephen A. Dutton of New York, asking an injunction to prevent any further conveyance of property, which she secure the re-establishment of her own title. C. W. Richardson, P. M. Czaki and Mary A. Godfrey are made joint defend-ants with Mr. Dutton.

Miss Godfrey has had Mr. Dutton arrested in New York. He was charged with hav-ing obtained a written instrument by false pretenses and he was held in default of $10,000 ball. The bill nied here states that Miss God-frey, on March 26 last, entered into negotiations with Dutton for the sale of bei subdivision of square 134, and lot 40, in Page's subdivision of square 94. This has a rental of about $135 a month. But the improvements are altogether dispro-portioned to the value of the lots they occupy, and she was led by Mr. Dutton's representations to believe that a leasenoid he had on property on Madison avenue, New York city, together with an interest in the Scott Coal Company of that city, would be much more productive of immediate income. He represented, she alleges, that the property he was trading had an incumproperty be was trading had an incum-brance, but it was only $8,509 and would presently be paid off. She made the trade and deeded her property to Dutton. On April 13 Mr. Dutton conveyed the property to L. W. Richardson. Mus Godfrey found upon looking into the condition of the New York property that there were heavy incumbrances, the Scott Coal Company was in the hands of a receiver. She then took steps to right

That Is Why A. L. Barber

COSTLIEST IN THE DISTRICT

Next year the finest residence in the District of Columbia will be erected. It is to be built to get away from people's east during the season.

When Mr. Barber purchased this property some months ago there was a general ex-pectation that land in that vicinity would take a boom, but after a little flurry things settled back to their normal condition. The property is very near Red Top, President Cleveland's first summer bone, and the site is one of the most

HOMES IN SEVERAL CITIES.

Mrs. Barber, it is said, is very fond of several cities, and their Fifth avenue resioce in New York is a magnificent one. With her heart in Washington Mrs. Barber has never enjoyed New York life as she otherwise might, so the decision was paid the price he bid. Nothing has been done this year toward the erection of the new home. That is to come doring the winter and spring. They know what they want and can afford to build as they please. With twenty-five acres of beautiful wooded land to build on, Mr. Barber will have all the ground neces sary on which to erect his palace, for palace it will be. It will surpass any private residence in the Capital City.

After carefully looking over the property for sale in the District Mr. and Mrs. Barber concluded they would purchase on the Tenleytown road. When the property now owned by him was put up for sale Mr.

THE BARBER HOME. Barber home, in this city, now is one of the most striking residences. It is a beautiful stone house, built on the hill at the corner of Fourteenth and Clifton streets porthwest. It commands a most beautiful view and attracts the attention of every stranger. Even the old-time citizens cannot refrain from admiring it as they pass by. So handsome is the home that many people will wonder at the change; but thereby hangs a tale.

Many years ago Senator John Sherman of Ohio, and Mr. Barber bought up Columbia Heights, and Mr. Barber erected his handsome home. The upper part of the square, and the Poundary porthwest was the site the other half belongs to Senator Sherman. The lower half is the same property for the purchase of which for a President' residence Senator Quay introduced a bill in the last Congress. It was never heard from after that time. Since then Senator Sherman has deter mined to utilize this idle property. He intends to run a street through it from Thirteenth to Fourteenth. This street is two haives by any means. The senior Ohio Senator knows a trick or two. The street is to be laid out through his half, far enough down to permit of a row of houses being built on each side of it. A third row will face the boundary.

NO BACK YARDS. This plan of Senator Sherman's thas changes the magnificent view from the Earber home into a simple gazing into the back yards of other people's houses. It is said that Mr. Barber tried to purhase from Senator Sherman his share the square, but he wouldn't sell. Then he tried, so it is further said, to buy the strip which would lie on the upper side of the new street, but the price asked was large than the viage of the square. So thus it is that Mr. Barber has pur chased the land on the Tenleytown roa and will there build a palace, the view from which will not be spoited by other people's back yards. The present home will be given up after the new one is completed.

Opened Its Clubhouse. The Mayflower Social Club held their first entertainment Moniny night at their new clubhouse on Brightwood avenue. It was opened by a grand march. Refreshments were served during the intermission: Prof. W. E. Barr rendered the music for the occasion. Among the guests were Miss. Prof. W. E. Barr rendered the music for the occasion.
